Choose a colour for each character in this extract. Colour in the nouns and pronouns to show which person they are referring to.

I saw Miss Underbridge give the thumbs up to Mr Rivers, who stood beside the sound system. He gave me a warm smile and suddenly, I just knew that I was going to let him down. The opening music started. The Merry Men leapt onto the stage and started to jig about. Janelle bounced from side to side with a huge grin on her face. At least she was enjoying herself.

An adapted extract from 'Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm'

It was fortunate that Rebecca had her books and her new acquaintances to keep her interested and occupied, or life would have proved difficult that first summer in Riverboro. She tried to like her aunt Miranda (the idea of loving her had been given up at the moment of meeting), but failed shamefully in the attempt. She was 5 a flawed and passionately human child, with no aspirations towards being an angel of the house, but she had a sense of duty and a desire to be good — respectably, decently good.

Whenever she fell below this self-imposed standard she was miserable. She did not like to be under her aunt's roof, eating bread, wearing clothes, and studying 10 books provided by her, and dislike her so heartily all the time. She felt instinctively that this was wrong and mean, and whenever the feeling of remorse was strong within her she made a desperate effort to please her grim and difficult relative. But how could she succeed when she was never herself in her aunt Miranda's presence? The searching look of the eyes, the sharp voice, the hard knotty fingers,
15 the thin straight lips, the long silences, the "front-piece"* that didn't match her hair, the very obvious "parting" that seemed sewed in with linen thread on black net — there was not a single item that appealed to Rebecca.

There are certain narrow, unimaginative, and strict old people who seem to call out the most mischievous, and sometimes the worst traits in children. Miss 20 Miranda, had she lived in a populous neighbourhood, would have had her doorbell pulled, her gate tied up, or piles of mud left on her garden paths.

* front-piece — a wig that is worn on the front part of the head
